Many factors influence whether a young person tries alcohol or other drugs.

Young people who use alcohol or other drugs before age 15 are five times more likely to develop a substance use disorder.

Teen years: The critical time of vulnerability

Screening and early intervention: A practical, proven approach

Advancing the approach: Our strategic initiative

Goals