Many factors influence whether a young person tries alcohol or other drugs. Teen years are the critical time of vulnerability. Experimentation can lead to risky behaviors and repeated use.

We focus on screening and early intervention through three goals:

- Improve funding, access, and implementation.
- Ensure providers have knowledge and skills.
- Conduct research and advance learning.